Annie: As a child I was unwanted and unloved. Tossed aside until my maternal grandmother came to claim me. Life got better after that, and it got better still when I met Ethan Michaels, the boy down the street who was determined to make me feel like I mattered. At first he was my friend, but then he became much more. But love isn't real. Not in my world.

When Ethan left to pursue professional hockey I had to make a clean break. I couldn't wait for him to find someone better, couldn't wait for him to break my heart. It's better to leave than be left. But now he's back, and I can't run from him anymore.

Worse...he won't let me.

Ethan: Annie Fraser owned me as a kid. She owns me still. When I got my first contract to play professional hockey I asked her to come with me, but she wouldn't leave Rawdon, not while her grandmother was sick. I understood. Still, I wanted to stay together, do whatever I could to keep her.

But she wanted to run.

I loved her enough to let her.

Now I'm back in town and I'm pissed. I think I hate her. I'm sure of it. Until I see her... and those old feelings come rushing back. I won't let her walk away again. I don't care what it takes.

* The Last Shot is a contemporary, second chance at love novel between a professional hockey player and a nurse. Although sweet with tamer language, it contains sexual situations and adult language.
