This is a set of textbooks, readers and workbooks for learners of English as a second language. - The course is designed to teach conversational English while providing information which will familiarize students with various aspects of American culture, including vocational opportunities, banking and credit arrangements and consumer information. -- Each of the 4 texts has 20 lessons, with each lesson divided into 4 parts. Part 1 covers language used in various situations. Part 2 introduces new structures and vocabulary through Response Sequences, ensuring the student is involved in meaningful communication, not mere memorization. Part 3 is a grammar section. Part 4 is an illustrated reading followed by questions and then conversational practice about the student's own activities. -- Each of the 4 Readers provides practice in reading and writing with controlled vocabulary and grammar. They follow the order of presentation of grammar, etc. used in the Texts. The first part is a reading passage followed by questions; the second elicits writing from the student. -- Each of the 4 Workbooks provide written reinforcement of the elements presented in the Text and Readers, with illustrated questions, and then short passages, each requiring a written answer. --- An excellent set for teaching or tutoring an ESL student. The books estimate teaching time of 60 to 80 hours for the set.
