The Ginger Man J.P. Donleavy

The Ginger Man is a novel, first published in Paris in 1955, by J. P. Donleavy (b. 1926). The story is set in Dublin, Ireland, in post-war 1947. Upon its publication, it was banned both in Ireland and the US for obscenity. The terra incognita of sexual encounters in late 1940s Dublin is mapped in the often racy misadventures of Sebastian Dangerfield, a student of law at Trinity College, who lives in Dublin with his English wife and infant daughter. Dangerfield, an American Protestant of Irish descent, is commonly believed to be a fictional version of the author, or perhaps more broadly, a composite of Donleavy and his contemporaries at Trinity. The Ginger Man was named one of the 100 Best Novels of the 20th Century by the Modern Library in 1998. It has sold 45 million copies world-wide and never been out of print.
