"Rev. Bonaventure Hammer, O. F. M....carried on his literary work and wrote many books and contributions for magazines. Among the latest works of Father Hammer was the compiling of the history of St. Boniface church, which was distributed at the golden jubilee celebration of the organization of the church last September. Father Bonaventure was born in Durmersheim, a small village near Carlsruhe, the capital of the grand duchy of Baden, Germany, June 23, 1842. He came to the United States with his parents in 1846 and located at Pittsburgh, Pa. In 1883 he entered St. Vincent's college, Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania, where he took a classical course. In 1860 he went to Cincinnati and entered the Franciscan order October 4th of that year. He was one of the first to join the order in the United States.

"After completing his philosophical and theological studies, he was ordained a priest August 5th 1865, in the cathedral at Cincinnati. After his ordination he was engaged in the ministry at Cincinnati, Louisville, Hamilton, Oldenourg and Detroit. In the course of time, his literary attainments led him to retire from the more active duties as minister, and for man years he had been engaged principally in writing for the Franciscan monthlies published in Cincinnati.

"He came here in 1882 and had resided here since with the exception of about three years. In 1901 ill-health compelled him to go to California. After three and a half years in San Diego, near the border of Mexico, he returned to Lafayette and again took up his ministerial and literary work. He rose to fame when he translated General Lew Wallace's 'Ben Hur' from the English to the German. This was his crowning literary achievement. It was published by one of the largest publishing firms in Europe. The translation reads like an original. The German books written by Father Bonaventure exceed thirty in number, and comprise history, biography, drama, instruction and devotion." -Lafayette Courier, January 20, 1917
